NAIST Conversation Dialog Corpus Usage Agreement

This is a usage agreement for the Dialog Conversation Pair Corpus created by the Augmented Human Communication Laboratory at the Nara Institute of Science and Technology. Users of the corpus must obey the following guidelines:

GUIDELINES:

- USAGE: The dialog conversation pair corpus may be used for research purposes. Commercial use is prohibited.

- REDISTRIBUTION: The data in the corpus shall not be redistributed. It is permissible, however, to cite examples from the corpus for the purpose of presenting research results.

- CITATION: All reports/publications using the Dialog Conversation Pair Corpus must acknowledge its use. We recommend that this is done through a citation to the paper describing the corpus and a link to the corpus page:

  Lasguido Nio, Sakriani Sakti, Graham Neubig, Tomoki Toda, Satoshi Nakamura.
  Conversation Dialog Corpora from Television and Movie Scripts.
  The Oriental Chapter of International Committee for the Co-ordination and Standardization of Speech Databases and Assessment Techniques. 2014.

  Lasguido Nio, Sakriani Sakti, Graham Neubig, Tomoki Toda, Satoshi Nakamura.
  Utilizing Human-to-Human Conversation Examples for a Multi Domain Chat-oriented Dialog System.
  IEICE Transactions on Information and Systems. June 2014.

  http://isw3.naist.jp/~lasguido-l/me/resources.html#dialog-conversation-pair

ENDORSEMENT:

I, _____ (name), acting on behalf of _____ (organization), acknowledge my understanding of the above guidelines and accept this agreement. All other members of my organization that will use the data agree to abide by these guidelines. I am qualified to make this commitment.

Signature _____

Date: _____